BOSTON, Nov. 21.

Tuesday last the MARINE SOCIETY celebrated their annual feast at Concert-Hall. After dinner the following pertinent and patriotic toasts were drank.—

1. The day—may it ever be sacred to charity, and to the principles of our institution.

2. Our absent brethren—may fair gales and tight sea-boats, waft them safe into the haven of content.

3. The President of the United States, our old and faithful pilot—when he quits the helm, may the crew be preserved from mutiny, and the ship from breakers.

4. The Vice-President and Congress—may they prosper in their approaching voyage, and continue to take the benefit of the trade winds.

5. The Governor, and the good ship Massachusetts—may she never want good officers, but in due time, furnish an admiral for the federal fleet.

6. American commerce—may it flourish unmolested by violence or treachery.

7. The French republic—in steering for the Newfoundland of Liberty, may she keep a good reckoning, and not fall into the currents of Prejudice, or the gulf stream of Licentiousness.

8. All nations in amity with the United States.

9. The American fair—may they be neatly rigged and well manned.

10. The shipwrecked sailor—may Benevolence erect a roof to shelter, and supply a blanket to warm him, on every dangerous coast.

11. Our infant navy—may it soon be equal to the protection of our commerce, and the defence of our coasts.

12. A total loss of the ship Tyranny, without benefit of salvage to the underwriters.

13. A leaky ship, heavy gales, lee shore, dark night, and no light-house, to the enemies of freedom

14. Our foreign ministers and consuls—may they secure respect to our flag and national character.

15. Free ports, short voyages, and good markets.

16. A speedy calm upon the surface of the great political ocean of Europe.

THE PEOPLE'S ANSWER.

Doubtless, citizen Adet, as you have made a publication, by way of an address or appeal to the people, you wish to know what effect it has, and expect an answer.

Know then, that we are as little flattered as deceived, by your opening a correspondence with us. Having ordained and dignified our dear beloved President to receive and answer ministerial addresses, and whose heart you will find sound enough, and head long enough, for the trust; it is insulting us that you do not confine yourself to him. It is true, you have adopted the revolutionary mode of doing business; but, thank God, we have no occasion for a revolution just now.

You might, one would think, have learned something of your predecessors. Genet, the first apostle of the republic to this country, in pursuance of his orders, publicly preached peace, and privately dealt out commissions of war. While devout in assurances that France wished us to remain neutral and happy, he was rapidly fomenting a war which was to be charged to the British: and all things worked well till, impatient for the rupture, he threatened an appeal to the people, which blasted him in a moment. The cloven foot was out, and he could do no more.

He of course was taken away, and Fauchet, who understood the game of whist better, was put in his place, with sorrow for what happened and loving assurances for the future. Fauchet preserved a fair exterior, and might therefore, unsuspected, have remained here to this day, had not the downfal of his patron Robespierre, rendered it necessary to sacrifice him too: and yet he was by no means idle. He took precious confessions, dispensed dei gratias, of which he found a few thousand were sufficient for American patriots; and prophesied—to his own court, not to us—of JEFFERSON to come; whose way he prepared.

But you, at a single dash, have overset the whole business. You must needs lug into your address, the very name of Jefferson, for no earthly purpose but to discover the real object of it! And now, there is not an elector, on this side the Delaware, that would not be sooner shot, than vote for him.

Unversed in diplomatics, it cannot be expected that we should meddle with the question, whether a nation, three times regenerated by Tom Paine, whom Jefferson and his disciples exalt above Moses or Jesus, is not absolved from the faith of treaties, and may not make truth of a French lie, by finding a British lie to match it—Nor with the question, whether the French may not lay aside the law of nations, as well as the law of God, and substitute in the room of both, imperious circumstances, as more adapted to the energy and principles of a pure republic—Nor yet with what is less doubtful, whether the French, when reversing all other maxims, might not reverse the ancient one, that right of dominion is founded in grace, and found that right in the want of grace; and in that way make out their title to direct and plunder us in common with other neutral nations. On these points we refer you to Timothy Pickering for the present; and ultimately to the teaching of time. But one thing we have sense enough to know, that halters are not the proper cords of love.

It is not necessary, citizen, that we should conclude with the usual salutation, as you are so fully prayed for in governor Adams's proclamation for thanksgiving. THE PEOPLE.

Nov. 10.

Extract from a Virginia paper.

"Men of modesty submit to the calumny, without attempting to repel the darts of their adversaries. Conscious of the purity of their intentions, they confide in the justice of their country, and entrust their reputation to the reason of calmer times and more impartial judges.

"As total silence, however, is liable to be construed into a consciousness of guilt, it becomes a duty on the real friends of the country, to expose the misrepresentations of party, and to exhibit an impartial representation of things to the unbiassed judgment of the public.

"With these views, gentlemen, I beg leave to join a large proportion of my fellow-citizens in recommending to your choice, as President, JOHN ADAMS, L. L. D. a gentleman, a native of the United States, a worthy member of society, of innocent manners and excellent moral character—a man of genius and extensive erudition; an eminent lawyer, politician and civilian; a warm friend to civil and religious liberty; an early and d[illegible] patriot; a strenuous advocate for the rights of his country; a faithful defender of her insulted privileges, and an undaunted and vigorous opponent of the encroachments and tyranny of the British parliament—one who influenced by his example, convinced, persuaded and animated by his writings; who repelled danger by his vigilance and activity, frustrated the designs of our enemies by his enlightened councils, and defeated their best concerted plans—one whose superior soul, glowing with the ardent flame of liberty, disdained the notice of difficulties deemed insurmountable by inferior minds and contemplating the resources of his country, sought with eager expectation the issue of the impending contest—one who regarded his wealth, his fame and life itself as the property of his country, and to advance its interests, voluntarily hazarded them on the precarious event of the unequal war—one whose generous spirit was never subject to the controuling influence of avarice or self interest, but whose virtue and disinterestedness shone most eminently in times of trial and danger, in times when the efforts of avowed enemies and the treachery of false friends shook the foundation of our hopes and threatened our destruction, and whose fortitude inspired our councils with decision and supported the languishing spirits of his countrymen in the darkest season of the revolution—a delegate to the first continental congress, and a leader on the grand question which gave birth to the liberty and national existence of this country—An ambassador to different powers of Europe, to whose negociations the United States are indebted for the acknowledgment of their independence by the states general of the United Netherlands, for the completion of a treaty of amity and commerce with that republic on principles of reciprocal advantage, for the procurement of a seasonable loan for the support of our credit and relief of our exhausted finances, for the enlargement of our territory, for the security of our fisheries, and in conjunction with his honorable colleagues, for the adjustment of the articles of the definitive treaty of peace—A man, whose virtue and talents procured him a gracious reception at foreign courts, and whose embassy was rewarded with singular success; who was courted by men of eminence and respectability, and received an honorary mark of distinction from the citizens of the metropolis in which he resided, as a testimony of their veneration and esteem—A man who undertook the defence of the constitutions of his country, in opposition to principles unfriendly to good government, and to an opinion at that time entertained of their being incompetent to the preservation of civil liberty—a man whose uniformity and consistency of character demonstrate the goodness of his principles, and whose conduct from the beginning of the war has been one uniform series of public services, and for whose persevering industry and unabating zeal, his country is as much indebted as to any of her sons—A man who is the delight of his friends, a blessing to society, and an honor to his country; whose past services have a claim (as far as merit can claim) a right not only to the gratitude, but to the justice of his country, and whose present pretensions derive strength from a comparison with those of his competitors."!

For the Gazette of the United States.

Mr. FENNO,

Mr. Dallas must pardon the abuse, as he calls it, of Pennsylvaniensis, as it was engendered by his neglect of what he himself acknowledges to be his duty.

In your paper of 21st inst. he was charged with having omitted in the statement of the law the word within, by a correspondent, who said that he had satisfied himself, on examination of the case as stated, that it was not set forth with accuracy and that the word within was omitted.

Here was the charge directly made. If Mr. D. thought it his duty, as he says he does, to relieve the public mind from the effects of a misrepresentation relating to any official transaction, why did he not immediately do his duty and thus relieve the public mind, before his long silence could be construed into an acquiescence in the justice of the charge? Had he done so he would have been secure (on that score at least) from anonymous abuse: He would not then have permitted his fellow-citizens to be justifiable, as they now are, in the supposition that anonymous abuse has a greater effect in inducing him to discharge his duty, than any wish he may have formed to relieve the public mind from any misrepresentation whatever.

His endeavor to lay the blame on a transcribing clerk will not fail, without any comment, to be duly appreciated.

Mr. D. calling it an indecent supposition that the judges had given their opinion on the law, without reading it for themselves, has much mistaken my intention. It was generally supposed by those who were willing to apologize for the extraordinary opinion of the judiciary, that they had formed that opinion on the mutilated extract, and I think that it really is the best excuse that can be offered for them.

It was my sole wish to bring these transactions into the serious consideration of my fellow-citizens—that object is attained. Let those whose duty it is investigate the matter and see whether (as his excellency the governor himself expressed it) fair play has been shewn, and if there has not, let the blame rest on those shoulders that are best entitled to bear it. PENNSYLVANIENSIS.

For the GAZETTE OF THE UNITED STATES.

To the Electors of President and Vice-President.

A TRULY important and sacred trust is committed to you by your country—to you is delegated the duty of selecting a proper character for the chief magistracy of the United States. In the discharge of this duty, it behoves you to lay aside all party and tool considerations, all recurrence to the immediate causes which have procured you this appointment, and to reflect seriously and solely on the critical station in which you are placed, and the nature and consequences of the function you are about to fulfil. Ponder well each of you, my fellow citizens, before you give a vote, which may iſſue in the future peace and proſperity, or in the future confuſion and miſery of your beloved country.—The powers committed by the conſtitution to the Preſident of the United States, are of the moſt intereſting nature, as they concern our foreign relations. At all times, but more eſpecially during the receſs of congreſs, the executive may, by his proceedings, eſſentially contribute to the maintenance of peace, or involve us in difficulties, which muſt terminate in war.—How important then is it to our tranquillity and happineſs, that you ſhould fix your attention on that man, who, uninfluenced by prepoſſeſſions for any other nation, but ſolely devoted to the intereſts of his own country, ſhall be moſt likely to purſue that wiſe policy, which has maintained our happy neutrality amidſt the dreadful carnage which has deſolated other nations. If among the candidates, none ſhould appear totally diveſted, in your opinion, of ſome partiality for one or the other of the great rival nations of Europe, it is your duty to elect him, who has, during the preſent war, manifeſted the LEAST attachment to one, or antipathy to the other of the belligerent powers. If either of them ſhould, during the laſt four years, have given manifeſt proofs of an enthuſiaſtic admiration of the one, and a deep-rooted abhorrence of the other, of the belligerent powers, aſk yourſelves this queſtion—"will ſuch a man conſult the true intereſts of his country alone in his tranſactions with foreign powers?"—My fellow-citizens, the eyes of all America are now fixed upon you—your country waits, in awful ſuſpence, the reſult of your choice—remember that the vote of every one of you will be hereafter known to all the world.

Should any of you be ſeduced by flattery, by intrigue, by party-connexion, or any other unpatriotic motive, to vote for a candidate who will hereafter purſue meaſures, productive of inteſtine broils or foreign war, your name will be juſtly devoted to public infamy, and your character to univerſal execration. The preſent criſis is new in our affairs—this is the firſt election of a chief magiſtrate for the union, ſince our independance, in which the public opinion has been divided and the iſſue doubtful. On former occaſions, the PRE-EMINENT virtues of WASHINGTON united all hearts. But that great character is reſolved to retire to private life, at a juncture when perhaps, as much as ever, his wiſdom and patriotiſm are neceſſary for our preſervation. Let not your choice of a ſucceſſor realize the apprehenſions of the friends of America—let them not juſtly accuſe you of making Waſhington's retirement a national calamity—let not poſterity ſay, "that Waſhington, after forty years ſervices to his country, after vindicating her liberties by his valour, and preſerving her peace and proſperity by his wiſdom, like another PENELOPE, unrid, in the evening of his days, the glorious work which he had employed near his whole life in conſtructing." Chooſe a ſucceſſor, who by his wiſe and virtuous adminiſtration, will allow hiſtory to record this laſt act of the great Waſhington, as a ſplendid termination of an illuſtrious career—and the bleſſings of a grateful country will immortalize your names.

WARREN.

FOR THE GAZETTE OF THE UNITED STATES.

No. X.

To the Electors of the Preſident of the United States.

Reſpectable fellow citizens,

CREDIT has been very erroneouſly given to Mr. Adams, as agreeing with the Preſident, and the executive officers, and indeed with the government in general, upon the ſubject of all the meaſures which have been purſued under the federal conſtitution. It is a well known fact, however, that Mr. Adams has never been conſidered or treated as an executive officer. The office of Vice-Preſident has been kept in a perfectly dormant ſtate, in an executive ſenſe. Mr. Adams has not at all participated or co-operated in the executive councils or buſineſs of the United States. He has been always conſidered and treated only as the Preſident of the Senate; that is, as the ſpeaker, or chairman, of that branch of the legiſlature. Hence, he has not reſided at the ſeat of government, except during the ſeſſion of congreſs. It is alſo true, and it is of very great importance, that he is ſtrongly oppoſed to the great operations of the financial ſyſtem of our country, though adopted by congreſs, approved by the Preſident, and confirmed by repeated legiſlative and executive acts. We mean here explicitly to affirm, without fear of contradiction, that Mr. Adams greatly diſapproves of the funding and banking ſyſtems, and that he does not heſitate to ſpeak of them as matters that have and will produce extreme and extenſive ill! Phocion will not deny this: and every man muſt perceive what uſe he would make of the ſame facts againſt Mr. Jefferſon, could he bring ſuch forward. He has attempted to criminate Mr. Jefferſon, on the ſcore of our finances, by arguing from particular allegations concerning the opinion of ſome, who are repreſented as under his influence. But here are no ſuch wire-drawings of Mr. Adams's opinions. That gentleman will never heſitate to admit, that he has often ſpoken of the funding ſyſtem as certainly to bring upon this country evils the moſt extreme.—There is not a citizen of equal conſideration in the United States, whoſe ſentiments, upon the funds and the banks, are more oppoſed to the opinions of every perſon, who ever has been, or now is, an officer of the treaſury department. Let all, who are concerned in their eſtates and political wiſhes, conſider and examine well into this matter. The fact is abſolutely true, and the importance of it is immenſe. Theſe ſtrong obſervations proceed from no malignity to Mr. Adams, but from a long reflected and ſettled opinion, that the great financial operations of our government, were wiſe, neceſſary, and inevitable.

A FEDERALIST.

For the Gazette of the United States.

Serious conſiderations addreſſed to the Electors of Preſident and Vice-Preſident.

GREAT pains have been employed to prejudice you againſt John Adams, and to bias you in favor of Thomas Jefferſon.—Ever ſince the formation of the federal conſtitution, John Adams has been the Vice-Preſident of the United States.—It has always been a practice in all regular governments, and particularly in republican governments, to elect to an office the man who held the office next higheſt in importance, unleſs there exiſted ſatisfactory reaſons for paſſing him by.—This practice is founded in juſtice, in wiſdom and in policy. It is juſt to reward old and faithful ſervants, with higher dignities; it is wiſe, by this kind of civil promotion, to encourage diſtinguiſhed characters to ſerve the public; and it is politic, by this regular advancement, to prevent as much as poſſible the coliſion of factions and intereſts, which may terminate here, as they did among the Grecian republics, in deſpotiſm or anarchy.—This policy has been religiouſly followed in the eaſtern ſtates and particularly in Connecticut, ſo conſpicuous for public order, tranquillity and liberty. It is perhaps peculiarly important in a government like that of the United States—a departure from it muſt neceſſarily encourage the ambitious to thruſt themſelves into the exalted ſtation of Preſident, by reſorting to intrigue or corruption, and to ſubject us inevitably every four years to the machinations of foreign powers. Thus this inеſtimable privilege with which we are bleſſed may ſoon be converted into the engine of our deſtruction.

If this policy poſſeſs then theſe valuable features, it is demonſtrable, that, unleſs there be againſt JOHN ADAMS a ſerious, poſitive, ſpecific, and well ſubſtantiated charge, his claims and pretenſions are, on the retirement of Preſident Waſhington, peculiarly pre-eminent.

Mr. Adams has been near thirty years in the ſervice of his country, in various ſtations—he was a zealous and an active promoter of our independence—he rendered eſſential ſervices in various foreign embaſſies—on his return from Europe in 1787 he was honored with a vote of congreſs, declaring "that congreſs had a high ſenſe of the ſervices which he had rendered to his country in various important truſts, and preſenting him their THANKS for the patriotiſm, perſeverance, integrity and diligence with which he had ABLY and FAITHFULLY ſerved his country." He was ſoon after elected Vice-Preſident of the United States, and has continued ever ſince in that ſtation. All theſe things are admitted, not by his enemies, for ſuch a man can have no enemy among Americans, but—by the friends of his rival; they have not whiſpered a reproach againſt Mr. Adams's conduct, public or private—both are allowed to be irreproachable—his morality, virtue and patriotiſm have long borne the teſt of public ſcrutiny and have been found without a flaw—his abilities, talents, firmneſs and underſtanding are not denied—of theſe he has given abundant teſtimony in all his public tranſactions, particularly in his negociations.—But, he has written a book—Electors—have you read that book? Lay your hands upon your hearts—appeal to your own conſciences, and ſay—Ought you to caſt aſide this faithful old ſervant upon vague rumour, upon mutilated quotations and artful publications? Is it not your duty to read that book, before you give a vote, which is to degrade a reſpectable patriot, who never had a wiſh, inconſiſtent with his country's good?

It is unneceſſary to ſay any thing, reſpecting Mr. Jefferſon, if you are impreſſed with the advantage of preſerving regularity and ſtability in our government. Admitting that citizen's claims to be equal in other reſpects, the principle I have adverted to gives Mr Adams a preferable claim. By abandoning ſo uſeful and important a guide, you will take away every ſtimulus and incentive to great and patriotic ſervices, you will lay the foundation of faction and intrigue.

ORDER.

PHILADELPHIA,

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 30, 1796.

 An interview is requeſted with "JURISPERITUS."

The magnificent Dutch Church in this city, deſtroyed by fire in 1794, has ſince been rebuilt, and was opened for divine ſervice on Sunday laſt.

There was a report in circulation yeſterday that the French fleet had arrived off Sandy Hook—The New-York papers by this day's mail contain no information on the ſubject.

EXPERIMENT

ON THE CULTIVATION OF RICE,

Without covering it with water—Worthy the attention of Farmers who have a good proportion of low, rich ſoil.

Extract of a letter from Doctor James S. Cutting, of Newbern, (N. C.) to one of his friends in New-York, dated September 23, 1796.

"As it is probable Dr. Mitchell never ſaw Rice grow, I have ſent him a bunch the growth of this ſummer, and the product of one grain. It was raiſed in my garden without the aſſiſtance of water, excepting the dews and rains. The ſeed was put into the ground in June, and the crop ripe for gathering this day. This hint may poſſibly be of ſervice, as I have no doubt that many of the low Meadows in your climate would produce it in perfection—and you may ſee by the ſample I ſend you, there is no grain that increaſes equal to it."

COMMUNICATIONS.

Mr. Jefferſon ſays, "The manufacturing mobs of great cities are like ſores on the human body;"—He ſays, "That the Emigrants from Europe bring with them into America pernicious habits and an unbounded licentiouſneſs;—He alſo ſays, "That the cultivators of the earth are the choſen people of God:"—

Queſtion 1ſt, In what part of this State had the Jefferſon ticket the greateſt majority? Anſwer, From a great city, and from the ultramontane counties, inhabited by Emigrants, Whiſkey-Boys and Inſurgents, Queſtion 2nd, Where had the Adams ticket the greateſt majority? Anſwer, From the cultivators of the earth—the choſen people of God—the honeſt, independent yeomanry, beyond the reach of foreign intrigues and corruption, Queſtion 3d, To whom therefore, is the reſult of the election in this State the moſt honourable? Unqueſtionably to John Adams.

A correſpondent obſerves, that the fertility of invention of a certain party ſeems to be equalled only by the diſtreſs into which the returns of the elections of electors of the Preſident and Vice-Preſident has thrown them. There never perhaps was a more barefaced miſtatement of the ſentiments of men, than what has been given Yeſterday in Mr. Bache's paper, of the probable iſſue of the votes of the electors. The writer of the ſtatement alluded to, has modeſtly declared, that Vermont, who has choſen electors, is to have no vote on the occaſion.

The following will be found more correct.

SALEM, November 22.

Sailing of a Spaniſh Fleet.

Capt. Mugford arrived here on Sunday laſt from Cadiz. He ſailed the 26th September in company with a Spaniſh fleet of 22 ſail of the line, and 18 frigates and ſloops of war, reported to be bound to Carthagena. It was alſo ſaid, that at Carthagena they were to [illegible] by a fail [illegible] to ſail for Louiſ[illegible]

The Admiral's ſhip carried 152 guns.

While capt. M. lay at Cadiz, two Portugueſe armed ſhips of about 500 tons each, from the Brazils were ſent in there as prizes. They were very valuable, and were captured by a French privateer ſchooner of 16 guns, ſaid to be in part owned by capt. Barney.

Of the Capture of Admiral Jervis.

Capt. Pedrick, of the brig Fox, arrived at Marblehead on Sunday laſt, from Liſbon. He ſailed in company with capt. Myrick, of Boſton, who brings the important intelligence of the capture of admiral Jervis's fleet, &c. We have ſeen two gentlemen of veracity from Marblehead, who converſed with Capt. Pedrick, and made the uſual enquiries for news on his arrival, and he did not even mention the important reports brought by capt. Myrick; he was not aſked particularly the queſtion relative to the capture of Jervis's fleet, becauſe at the time the report was not in circulation; but it is certainly very ſingular that capt. Pedrick heard nothing of this important intelligence, or if he did, and made no mention of it.—We muſt wait patiently, for the arrival of the ſloop at Boſton, which was to ſail the next day after capt. Myrick, for a confirmation or contradiction of this highly important report.

[Citizen Greenleaf would explain this by ſaying that Mr. SOMEBODY, the owner, was not queſtioned on the ſubject.]

EASTON, (Maryland) Nov. 22.

The celebrated Mr. Henry (Patrick) of Virginia, it is ſaid, oppoſes Mr. Jefferſon. Mr. Henry has long been convinced, that from the amendments which were adopted into the conſtitution, as well as from the ſucceſs of the adminiſtration of our federal government, all real cauſe of honeſt oppoſition had been taken away. When talents, and a ſincere heart like his, unite, we have invariably ſeen converts made to federal meaſures. Some of the moſt celebrated men of our own ſtate, are evidences of this remark. Conceited ignorance, however, makes its accuſtomed ſtand here, as it has done in all countries, and at all times, againſt every light—except the light of "darkneſs viſible,"—a light extremely uſeful to fallen ſpirits. Their fore-runners were ſimilarly circumſtanced, if we may credit Milton—

"Darkneſs viſible
Served only to diſcover ſights of woe
Regions of ſorrow, doleful ſhades, where PEACE
And reſt can never dwell ——"

What a picture of thoſe gloomy ſpirits in this happy country, who ſee ſlavery in the energy of good laws—nobility in a common title of reſpect—and monarchy in the birth night ball of Waſhington!

A Short Delay

In the Drawing of the Canal Lottery,

In Washington city, has been unavoidably occasioned by the unforeseen intervention of Mr. Blodget's Lottery—but as the major part of the tickets are now disposed of, this is to inform the public that the drawing of the Canal Lottery will certainly commence without fail, on the first Monday in January 1797, and those holding tickets, are hereby requested to send a statement of those sold, and those on hand.

RANAWAY,

About the 1st of October last, from the plantation of Mr. Thomas F. Brooke, (in Prince George's county) to whom he was hired, a NEGRO MAN, named CÆSAR; 33 years of age; about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high; well made; of a yellowish complexion; a little pockmarked: has, when spoken to, rather a down look, and submissive tone of voice: the clothes he had before he absconded were of plain, such as labouring Negroes usually wear, but these he may probably exchange for others: he will doubtless endeavour to pass for a freeman, having, as I have been informed, assumed the name of Butler: I have reason to believe that he went to Baltimore, from whence he is said to have gone to some part of the Susquehannah, probably with a view of getting to Pennsylvania. A reward of Thirty Dollars will be given to the person who may take him and so secure him in some jail that I may get him again, if taken in this state, and Fifty dollars if taken out of the state, and if brought home or secured in the jail of Prince George's county all reasonable charges will be paid by ALEXR. COVINGTON.

Treasury of the United States.

NOTICE is hereby given to all persons who are or may be Creditors of the Umted States, for any sums of the Funded Debt, or Stock, bearing a present interest of six per centum per annum.

1st, That pursuant to an Act of Congress passed on the 28th day of April, 1796, intitled an act in addition to an act, intituled "An act making further provision for the support of public credit, and for the redemption of the public debt," the said debt or stock will be reimbursed and paid in manner following to wit. "First, by dividends "to be made on the last days of March, June and September for the present year, and from the year one thousand "seven hundred and ninety-seven, to the year one thou- "sand eight hundred & eighteen inclusive, at the rate of "one and one half per centum upon the original capital. "Secondly, by dividends to be made on the last day of "December for the present year, and from the year one "thousand seven hundred and ninety-seven, to the year "one thousand eight hundred and seventeen inclusive, at "the rate of three and one half per centum upon the ori- "ginal capital; and by a dividend to be made on the last "day of December, in the year one thousand eight hun- "dred and eighteen, of such sum, as will be then ade- "quate, according to the contract, for the final redemp- "tion of the said stock."

2d. All distinction between payments on account of Interest and Principal being thus abolished by the establishment of the permanent rule of reimbursement above described, it has become necessary to vary accordingly the powers of attorney for receiving dividends; the public creditors will therefore observe that the following form is established for all powers of attorney which may be granted after the due promulgation of this notice, viz.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that I of do make, constitute and appoint my true and lawful Attorney, for me, and in my name, to receive the dividends which are, or shall be payable according to law, on the (here describing the stock) standing in my name in the books of (here describing the books of the Treasury or the Commissioner of Loans, where the stock is credited) from (here insert the commencement and expiration of time for which the power of attorney is to continue) with power also an attorney or attornies under him, for that purpose to make and substitute, and to do all lawful acts requisite for effecting the premises, hereby ratifying and confirming all that my said Attorney or his substitute, shall lawfully do, by virtue hereof.

In Witness hereof, I have hereunto set my Hand and Seal the day of in the year

Sealed and Delivered in presence of,

BE IT KNOWN, that on the day of before me personally came within named and acknowledged the above letter of attorney to be his act and deed.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my Hand and affixed Seal the day and year last aforesaid.

Given under my Hand at Philadelphia, this twentieth day of July 1796, pursuant to directions from the Secretary of the Treasury.

50,000 Tickets, at Eight Dollars, 400,000

N. B. To favour those who may take a quantity of Tickets, the prize of 40,000 dollars will be the LAST drawn ticket, and the 30,000 the LAST but ONE:

And approved notes, securing payment in either money or prizes, in ten days after drawing, will be received for any number not less than 30 tickets.

This Lottery will afford an elegant specimen of the private buildings to be erected in the City of Washington—Two beautiful designs are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these prawings it is proposed to erect two centre and four corner buildings, as soon as possible after this lottery is sold, and to convey them, when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the manner described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of five per cent. will be made to defray the necessary expenses of printing, &c. and the surplus will be made a part of the fund intended for the National University, to be erected within the city of Washington.

The Drawing will commence as soon as the tickets are old off.—The money prizes will be payable in thirty days after it is finished; and any prizes for which fortunate numbers are not produced within twelve months after the drawing is closed, are to be considered as given towards the fund for the University; it being determined to settle the whole business in a year from the ending of the drawing, and to take up the bonds given as security.

The real securities given for the payment of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the lottery.

The twenty four gentlemen who by appointment of the late Commissioners assisted in the management of the Hotel Lottery are requested to undertake this arduous task a second time on behalf of the public; a sufficient number of these having kindly accepted, it is hoped that the friends to a National University and the other federal objects may continue to favor the design.

By accounts received from the different parts of the Continent as well as from Europe, where the tickets have been sent for sale, the public are assured that the drawing will speedily commence, and that the care and caution unavoidably necessary to insure a safe disposal of the tickets, has rendered the short suspension indispensable.

SAMUEL BLODGET.

 Tickets may be had at the Bank of Columbia; of James West & Co. Baltimore; of Peter Gilman, Boston; of John Hopkins, Richmond; and of Richard Wells' Cooper's Ferry. 60

Nov. 9

Treasury Department,

September 28, 1796.

NOTICE is hereby given, that proposals will be received at the office of the Secretary of the Treasury until the expiration of the first day of March next ensuing, for the supply of all rations which may be required for the use of the United States, from the first day of June, 1797, to the thirty-first day of May, 1798, both days inclusive, at the places and within the districts hereafter mentioned, viz. At Oswego; at Niagara; at Presque Isle; at Sandusky Lake, and on Sandusky River; at Detroit; at Michilimackinac; at Fort-Franklin; at Pittsburgh; at Cincinnati; at Fort-Hamilton; at Fort St. Clair; at Fort-Jefferson; at Grenville; at Picque Town and Loramics Store; at Fort Adams; at Fort Wayne; at Fort Defiance; at any place below Fort Defiance on the Miami River to Lake Erie; at Fort Steuben; at Fort Massac; at any place from Fort Massac to the south boundary of the United States on the river Mississippi; at Fort Knox; at Ouiatanon.

If supplies shall be required for any posts or places not mentioned in this notice, all such supplies shall be furnished at prices proportioned to those to be paid at the posts before recited, or as may be hereafter agreed on between the United States and the Contractor.

The rations to be supplied are to consist of the following articles, viz.

One pound two ounces of bread or flour.

One pound two ounces of beef, or fourteen ounces of pork or bacon.

Half a gill of rum, brandy or whiskey.

One quart and half a pint of salt.
Two quarts of Vinegar,
Two pounds of Soap,
One pound of Candles, } per hundred rations

The rations are to be furnished in such quantities, as that there shall at all times during the said term, be sufficient for the consumption of the troops at Michilimackinac, Detroit, Niagara, and Oswego, for the term of six months in advance, and at each of the other posts, for the term of at least three months in advance, in good and wholesome provisions, if the same shall be required. It is to be understood, that the Contractor is to be at the expence and risk of issuing the supplies to the troops at each post, and that all losses sustained by the depredations of an enemy, or by means of the troops of the United States, shall be paid for at the price of the articles captured or destroyed, on the depositions of two or more persons of creditable characters, and the certificate of a commissioned officer, ascertaining the circumstances of the loss, and the amount of the articles for which compensation shall be claimed

SWANN'S,

Riding School, Horse Academy & Infirmary.

Adjoining the Public Square, Market Street.

T. SWANN

RETURNS his sincere thanks to those gentlemen by whom he has been employed, during his residence in this City, and flatters himself that the success of his efforts, in the numerous, obstinate and dangerous diseases in Horses, in which he has been consulted, together with his moderate charges, will secure their future favors and recommendation.

He now begs leave to inform them and the public at large that his spacious and commodious premises, erected for the purposes above described are open for the reception of pupils of either sex, who wish to be instructed in the Art of Riding, and the right method of governing their horses, so as to ride them with ease, elegance, and safety—their horses will be carefully and expeditiously broke, for every purpose, and made obedient to the will of the riders; the natural powers which are shut up in them, will be unfolded by art, calling forth uniformity of motion, and giving to that noble animal all those beauties of action which providence has so bountifully bestowed on them.

Also, at his hospital, every disorder to which the horse is liable will be treated according to the rules of art, confirmed by long and repeated experience.

The utility of the above institution has never been questioned, that it has long been wanted in this city, every gentleman's stud will manifest, and T. SWANN as the first establisher of the veterenary art, solicits and relies upon the support of that public (which he is ever anxious in serving) to enable him to bring it to perfection. The idea of a subscription for that purpose has been hinted by several gentleman, who wish to promote the institution—the amount of each subscription to be returned by services in any of the departments he professes, agreeable to the rate of charges stated in his hand bill. Such subscription is now open, and the signatures of many respectable gentlemen already obtained. He therefore informs his friends and such Ladies and gentlemen to whom he has not the honor of being known, that he shall in a few days take the liberty of waiting upon them and soliciting their support and protection.

N. B. Horses are properly prepared for those Ladies and Gentlemen who wish to be instructed.
